

SEADOM Congress 2015

Quality of Teaching and Learning Theme – Breakout Session

Session Summary

The breakout session for Quality of Teaching and Learning was attended by 17 SEADOM Congress participants from 8 countries. The participants agreed that the theme should focus on the following 4 objectives: 1) identify our meaning of quality in teaching and learning, 2) identify how each country determines quality in teaching and learning, 3) identify challenges in obtaining a high level of teaching and learning, and 4) identify strategies for collaborating and improving teaching and learning. Regarding the first objective, the participants agreed that quality in teaching and learning comes from appropriate content, which is taught effectively, and is constantly evaluated and improved. Finally, the participants agreed that the next steps should be to give a quality in teaching and learning survey to all SEADOM members (objective 2), and to create a forum for participant papers on quality of teaching and learning for the next congress.
